

Public Schools Should Promote Racial Equity, Not Risk Re-Segregation

TLEEC Written Testimony Against Senate Bill 204: Relating to Public School Transportation Outside of Home Districts, Submitted to the Senate Education Committee, March 18, 2021

Dear Chairman Taylor, Vice Chair Lucio, and Honorable Members of the Senate Education Committee:

The Texas Legislative Education Equity Coalition (TLEEC) is a collaborative of over 20 organizations and individuals with the mission to improve the quality of public education for all children, with a focus on racial equity. We advocate at the local, state, and national levels for high-quality teaching, curriculum and instructional practices and bilingual education for English learners, as well as fair funding and enhanced college access and success. TLEEC opposes Senate Bill 204 because it will lead to segregation along racial and socio-economic divisions.

SB 204 would impact both urban and rural schools throughout the state. The school choice system has largely replicated the inequalities of the system it was designed to replace¹ and research across the United States highlights parallels between school choice policies, such as SB 204, and resegregation.² The standing interlocal agreements offer the appropriate avenue for districts to negotiate inter-district transfer students' travel. There is also already a waiver process in place through TEA should districts be unable to negotiate an agreement.

A fairly recent legal case between Hearne ISD and Mumford ISD demonstrates the challenges faced by school districts when there is school choice involved. Mumford ISD advertises and solicits students from Hearne ISD through local media.³ Across a 10-year period, Hearne ISD's white population dropped by 68% as Mumford ISD's rose. The recruited students must meet specific criteria for standardized test scores and not have any documented discipline or attendance problems. Essentially, Mumford ISD selectively recruits students based on their academic ability while disallowing other perceived challenges for students' achievement. Given racial and socioeconomic disparities in discipline rates, this practice furthers inter-district segregation.

As members of this committee are aware, school finance is a complex system, but it boils down to the fact that money follows the students. In districts that have declining enrollment due to "white flight" through inter-district transfers, the loss of attendance funds directly impacts a district's ability to sustain its educational programs.³

Texas schools should offer all students a high-quality public education, irrespective of race or socioeconomic status. We urge the committee to vote against SB 204.
