Free Webinars on Education for Immigrant Families

IDRA Launches Bilingual Online Portal to Continue Assistance with the Mexican Consulate in San Antonio During COVID-19 Closures

See Spanish version of this release.

San Antonio, May 11, 2020 -

Through its Ventanilla de Orientación Educativa (Window to Education), IDRA launched a portal this month with bilingual materials and videos for families. The materials provide information on the civil rights of immigrant and English learner students, local educational services, and resources on how to access and succeed in college.

IDRA and the Consulate General of Mexico in San Antonio began a partnership in mid-2019 and in the last year helped over 3,000 Mexican and Mexican American families navigate the U.S. education system and learn about important educational opportunities in both countries. Since schools and the Consulate closed due to the COVID-19 crisis, families cannot currently access the information in person.

"Our new Virtual VOE connects families with vital information about educational resources that are more needed than ever," said IDRA President & CEO Celina Moreno. "When families have the key information they need, they not only take steps for their own families, they support others as well."

Deputy Consul Susana Monreal said, "La Ventanilla Virtual VOE, impulsada a través de una gran alianza con IDRA, nos permite seguir ofreciendo información y asesorías a la comunidad Mexicana sobre las oportunidades, programas y servicios educativos, a los cuales pueden acceder durante estos tiempos difíciles y así poder continuar con su preparación académica."

["The Virtual VOE, promoted through a great alliance with IDRA, allows us to continue offering information and advice to the Mexican community about educational opportunities, programs and services that they can access during these difficult times and thus be able to continue with their academic preparation."]

The "Virtual VOE" resources in English and Spanish are online at <https://idra.news/VOE-Webinars> . Video topics include:

- Rights of Immigrant Students in PreK-12 Schools
- Navigating the U.S. K-12 Education System
- College Financial Aid Opportunities for Immigrant Students
- Adult and Community Education Opportunities in Spanish
- Educational Opportunities in Mexico for Nationals Living in Both Countries

IDRA also has connected with San Antonio school districts to provide resources to families they serve throughout the school year. Partnering VOE districts include: East Central ISD, Edgewood ISD, Northeast ISD, Northside ISD, San Antonio ISD, Southside ISD and Southwest ISD.

IDRA Ventanilla de Orientación Educativa in San Antonio
Program Connects Mexican Nationals & Immigrants with Educational Opportunities

About the San Antonio VOE
IDRA and the Consulate General of Mexico in San Antonio are partnering to help Mexican and Mexican American families navigate the U.S. education system and learn about important educational opportunities in both countries.

The program, called Ventanilla de Orientación Educativa (VOE), provides information on the civil rights of immigrant and English learner students, local educational services, and resources on how to access and succeed in college.

VOE also disseminates information on educational opportunities offered by the Mexican government for nationals abroad and develops various courses for immigrant parents.

Examples of VOE Services & Information

- How to approach U.S. K-12 and higher educational institutions
- How to apply for financial aid in the United States (including FAFSA & TAFSA)
- Information on resources for adult and community education in Spanish
- Opportunities to continue studying if you return to Mexico
- Online educational opportunities in Mexico for students in the United States
- The rights of immigrant students to attend public school
- The rights of English learners to an equal educational opportunity
